Thank You for my 20th Tax Season

Hello Friends and Clients!

Looking back to 1998 when I started in my basement office in Calgary, the industry has changed so much but my love for the business remains the same, so thank you all for the opportunity. It was quite a leap of faith to dive into this full time from a secure job, but no doubt one of the best decisions I made back then. The deadline's officially passed Monday April 30th, 2018 but I can still fit you in even if you're late. Now for my favorite part of tax season; the warm weather that comes right after it. We in Alberta had record snow melt which triggered a state of emergency in my home county during tax season but the worse is finally behind us. Hopefully it'll stay warm until the quading season starts May long weekend. I am already planning the summer and annual vacation with friends in August to Vancouver Island. In the meantime, I'm already looking forward to exploring the woods and my favorite "steak on a stick" over an open fire near the Rocky Mountains with friends for the Victoria Day long weekend.

Are you worried that CRA is clamping down on late filers and making it harder to put off? Tax time is never easy and that's why I am here to help you through that annual season which most Canadians find challenging----all year round. If you "Are Really, Really Behind on Your Taxes", no worries; I can help. Lastly, a "Happy Mother's Day" to all you Moms☺- without you, we couldn't be here!

Always at your tax service,

Neel
